

Every Zazzle Designer's
Cheat Sheet
of Events, Holidays, and Recipients

www.ThoughtsandDesigns.com

Hi there!

I'm Kimberly Eddy and I've been a designer on Zazzle for the last few years. I've been thankful to make some extra money on Zazzle as a ProSeller.

One of the things that has stressed me out about creating new Zazzle products is trying to figure out what to select for "Events" or "Recipients" when creating my products. These are found in those drop down menus on the "Create Your Product" page.

Maybe you've run into this yourself.

To help myself out, I created this handy cheat sheet of holidays that Zazzle has listed.

For your convenience, I've listed the holidays and events just as Zazzle does, in their order, as well as organized by month. The ones that are listed under "holidays" have a (h) next to them in the month listing, to avoid confusion.

This serves a few purposes for me.

1. I can more easily plan what I'm going to select when creating new products.

Seriously, scrolling down those dropdown menus gets old, doesn't it? It's not easy to figure out what to click at a glance.

2. I can more easily plan my marketing of my products but seeing what sort of related holidays are coming up.

Now, Zazzle doesn't list all holidays, but they list enough where this is helpful in planning marketing efforts. In fact, I use it not only to promote my own products, but to promote the products of fellow Zazzlers as an associate for different holidays. Why not? We're in this together. Let's help each other, right?

3. I can use this list as an idea generator for new products to possibly create.

If it's only this list, that means Zazzle saw a need for it. So, maybe others are looking for products for these kinds of events and holidays.

I hope you enjoy this freebie I've created.

Please, by all means, share it far and wide to all the Zazzlers you know. I want to be a blessing to others. I only ask that you keep my website information intact. Thanks.

Kimberly Eddy
